and one half years, Charlestown has emerged from an indebtedness of $10,761.36 and now has a balance over and above all liabilities of $3,070.03. This excellent financial condition was made known Thursday in Treasurer Schlessel's report to the annual financial town meeting.

He became town treasurer in November, 1910, and at that time it was alleged that the town's finances were in a muddled condition. The gradual increase in the debt had been the subject of bitter and personal controversies, and was made an election issue in 1910, which resulted in a change of administration. The indebtedness was $10,761.36 and the town's account was overdrawn at the bank to the amount of $800. Since that time the treasurer has paid off practically $12,000. According to his report, the balance in the treasury is $3,070.03, the school department has a balance of $110,424, making a total of $113,494.03. The present indebtedness includes a note of $5000 held by the Baptist church and one of $200, a total of $5200, which leaves a clean balance of $3070.50. During the present year Treasurer Schlessel has paid off $12,000 in notes and expects to pay off the trust fund in a short time.

The attempt made in the state senate to have the salaries of Rhode Island judges closed on Good Friday, failed on Thursday afternoon when that body on a roll call vote of 20 to 13, failed to secure the necessary two-thirds vote to pass the act under suspension of the rules. The act provided that Good Friday be added to the days on which the sale of liquor is prohibited by law and when saloons must be closed. The plan was to rush the act through the senate in conference and the governor to sign it immediately, so that the act should be in immediate effect.

The Ashaway Clay company was incorporated Thursday afternoon in the office of the secretary of the state of Rhode Island. The incorporators are Leverett A. Briggs, George N. Burdick and George B. Langworthy. The company is to manufacture and deal in clay products in the town of Hopkinton and will occupy the plant vacated by a defunct corporation and which was recently sold at auction.

A delegation of Westbury baseball enthusiasts will go to New London today to witness the game between New London and Jersey City teams, with expectations of seeing John Frill of Westbury, in the pitchers' box for the visiting team.

There will be special Easter services in the churches of Westbury, Sunday. In the afternoon there will be the Easter observance by Narragansett community, Knights Templar, with vocal and instrumental music and an address by Samuel H. Davis.

Mrs. Kate Davey, an old-time resident of Westbury, died Friday morning at her home on High street. She leaves several nephews and nieces, among these Judge John W. Swearing and Mrs. John J. Dunn. The funeral will be from the residence of Mr. Dunn.

Rev. J. W. Ford, D. D., who has resigned the pastorate of the First Baptist church, is not a member of the Westbury Ministerial association. Mr. Ford is a forceful and eloquent preacher and before accepting the local pastorate delivered the Easter address at the Knights Templar exercises.

Stephen Pickover, assistant to Michael Keleher, head porter of the Ponce de Leon hotel, St. Augustine, Florida, has arrived home, and was the first person to come to Westbury who witnessed the recent large fire along the water front of that ancient city. The hotel closed on Monday and Mr. Keleher is expected to arrive in Westbury today.
